ABOUT TESSA

The person behind the lens

I'm Tessa - and honestly, photography isn't really about the photos for me. It's about what happens in between them.

The moment you stop thinking about the camera and just start being - laughing at something real, leaning into someone you love, feeling the last warmth of the sun on your skin. That's where the magic is.

I've spent 16 years doing this work, and I'm also a somatic coach and breathwork practitioner - which means I have a genuine knack for helping people feel settled and present, even when a lens is pointed at them. You will not feel awkward. I promise.
